Krewe Directors Held Lengthy Meeting Last Night and Received Encouraging Reports From the Many, Committees.

The meeting of the directory of the Karnival Krewe last night was devoted to hearing reports on committees having various departments of the carnival entertainment in charge. W. W. Cowan, chairman of the carnival parade, reported that he had received many responses from organizations to which invitations to take part in the parade had been sent. Several new organizations have announced their readess to turn out and make a fine display, and some of those that have taken part in previous parades say they will again be in line this year stronger than ever.

The soliciting committee reported it had taken several contracts from merchants and manufacturers for space in the street fair. They say indications point to this feature of the fall festivities becoming very popular. There is some talk of a poultry low in connection with the fair. The Chinese village for the midway is practi-

Much of the committee's attention was taken up in the discussion of the most available street upon which to hold the street fair. A sub-committee made a report favorable to an east side street, the name of which, for special reasons, was not made public. Early in the sub-com-mittee's work a strong influence was brought to bear by West siders who wanted the fair on Broadway. This street was ed the fair on Broadway. This street was considered, but ejected because it offered no convenient entrance near the heart of the retail district, and because only a few blocks could be utilized on account of intervening crossfown car tracks.

The committee then considered an eastern street, and yesterday the matter was practically settled upon. While no official announcement has been made, it is believed the committee has chosen some street running east from Grand avenue between Ninth and Fourteenth streets. Eleventh street ning east from Grand avenue between Ninth and Fourteenth streets. Eleventh street is understood to have been decided on. It is wide and with one main entrance on Grand avenue and another on Troost or Harrison it would be centrally located for all car tracks. There are no cross tracks of car lines and several vacant lots along its length would make admirable sites for midway attractions. With an entrance at Eleventh and Grand avenue the best facilities would be had for people reaching the fair from Westport, the West side and Kansas City, Kas. An eastern entrance at Troost avenue would give easy access for residents on the give easy access for residents on the Bouth and East sides.

Colonel Over His Brother's Dead Body - Former Servants Come Long Distances to See Him.

NEW YORK, July 25 .- The funeral of the late Robert G. Ingersoll took place this afternoon at Walston, Dobb's Ferry, where he died on Friday last.

No clergyman was present to conduct the services; there was no music and there were no pallbearers. The body lay on a cot in the room where he died. It was enshrouded in white, and just one red rose was placed on the breast. About the cot were banks of floral tributes sent by friends wreathes and hunches of blossoms. No clergyman was present to conduct the friends, wreathes and bunches of blossoms The services were held at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Ingersoll sat beside her dead, and beside her were her daughters, Mrs. Walston H. Brown and Miss Maud Ingersoll. They were very much agitated, and wept almost con-tinuously. Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Farrell were present and Charles Broadway Rouse Colonel Ingersoll's oldest friend, occupied a chair by the side of the bier. There were some forty others present and they remained standing throughout The intense silence was broken by Dr. John Clark Ridpath, who, in a voice full of emotion, said: "My friends, it is a very sad duty to read, in the presence of the dead, the last poem written by Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll, entitled 'Declaration of the Free.' Captain McCulla on the Sinking of the Merrimae in the Santiago

Channel. NEWPORT, R. I., July 25.-Lecturing before the war college on "Lessons of the Late War," Captain B. H. McCalla, of the Norfolk navy yard, said: "It is understood from the narrative of Admiral Sampson published in the Century for April, that the original suggestion for sinking a collier in the entrance to Santiago harbor was presented during a conference of command ing officers on the flagship New York in the Bahama channel, after a report had been received from Schley, off Santiago. It was then thought to be necessary that addi-tional means should be adopted to con-fine Cervera in that port until the blockad-ing squadron of Admiral Schley could be reinforced. But from a military point of view it was a serious error to try to hold the Spanish ships in the harbor. The one the Spanish ships in the harbor. The one thing which seemed desirable was to encourage them to come outside for battle. And, in addition, by attempting to block the channel, we at once committed a more serious mistake because we advertised the fact that we did not intend to force the entrance to bring Cervera into action. The policy of the blockading force thus foreshadowed must have given Cervera and his government some temporary relief. Imgovernment some temporary relief, im-proved the morale of his officers and men, and enabled him to land a force of 1,100 seamen from his ships to assist the army. WASHINGTON, July 25 .- The features of derstood even by the conference. he cabinet meeting to-day were the farewell of Secretary Alger and the presenthour after the cabinet had assembled, Mr. Root appeared at the White House. He ing was pleasant and cordial. He remained but a few minutes, leaving shortly after noon to catch the 12:45 train for New York. When he left the White House, he said he would return and assume charge of the war department August 1. Shortly after Mr. Root had left. General Alger made his adleus. He shook hands with the president and each member of the cabinet. In saying farewell, there were many kindly expressions of regret and exchanges of well wishes. The cabinet remained in session about three-quarters of an hour after General Alger's departure.

There was a general cleaning up of little odds and ends preparatory to the president's departure to-morrow.

COTTONSEED OIL TRUST. Combination Said to Have Been Formed to Control the Texas

"Ferhaps he is better now. No one can understand it."

Mrs. Ingersoll said to him: "The colonel wanted you to put your hand upon his heart." and, suiting the action to the word, she directed his hand to the left breast of the deceased.

Mr. Rouse asked what she was going to do with the remains.

"I can't give him up," she said. "I can't bear to think of it. We're going to bring him back home."

The body will probably be taken to Fresh Pond, Long Island, on Thursday for cremation, but this arrangement is subject to change.

Product.

AUSTIN. TEX., July 25.—Information reached the attorney general's office today to the effect that six of the largest cottonseed oil factories in this state were being organized into a combination to be known as the Continental Oil Company, with headquarters in New York. It is the intention of this trust to control the cottonseed oil output of Texas.

The attorney general intends to take steps at once to look into the matter, and

ors who are to have charge of taking the census in Cuba, Porto Rico and Hawaii will he named soon. Director Meriam and war department officials are now corresponding on this question. The last census taken in Hawaii was in charge of W. C. Weedon, of Honolulu, and his name, with several others, is being considered for the supervisor of the coming census. Seven districts are to be organized in Cuba, and the president, it is understood, already has selected the men who will have charge of them. The work in Porto Rico will not be so difficult nor require so large a force as in Cuba. The utilizing of soldiers as census enumerators is among the possibilities in Porto Rico and Cuba, while in all three groups interpreters will be essential. sponding on this question. WILLIAM STEAD'S VIEW OF IT

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION THE GREATEST RESULT

American Delegates Made a Good Imc pression-England and United States Were Together in Almost Every Point That Came Up

THE HAGUE, July 25 .- I have seen the American delegates and they talked freely about the conference, but refused to make a statement about the results before the conferences rises. The following, however, may be accepted as a fairly accurate summary of the views they entertain:

The conference achieved a great success much greater than the delegates anticipated, and the result was achieved largely by the amour propre of capable men from all parts of the world, destined to accomplish something worth their assembling together. The result surprised all of them and the magnitude of the gains is imperfectly un-

His greet- icans inconsistent with their traditional ing was pleasant and cordial. He remained policy. This is made absolutely clear by the declaration signed by the American delegation, read in full at the conference today and entered on the records.

Mr. Low was busily engaged to-day upon the elaboration of the final act recording the work of the conference. Mr. Holls has achieved a position of influence greater than that of many of the first delegates, and Captain Crozier is much admired for his plucky fight in support of his amendment to the Russion resolution on the dumdum bullet.

The relations between the American and other delegates, notably the English, German and Russian, has been extremely friendly. The Englishmen and Americans

After the arbitration convention is signed it will probably be opened to the adhesion of all other powers not represented at the conference, on condition that no original signatory of the convention object. This right to blackball any power wishing to join the convention was insisted upon by Italy, in order to prevent the adhesion of the pope, and by England on account of the Transvaal. It is hoped that all the South American states will come in. It is the unanimous opinion of all the American delegates that the conference begins a new epoch, and that the good seed now sown will bear a rich harvest here-

INSISTS ON MONROEISM.

WILLIAM T. STEAD.

United States Secures a Special Exemption From the Peace Conference.

THE HAGUE, July 25 .- An arrangement has been agreed to with regard to the objection raised by the American delegates to the international peace conference to the use of the word "duty" in article 27 of the general act, in a way that would imply any obligation on the part of the United States to interefere in disputes between European governments and vice versa. The word "duty" is retained, but, on the motion of the American delegation, definitive declaration is inserted that nothing in the arbitration convention shall im-pose an obligation upon the United States to interfere in European affairs, or vice versa.

LONDON, July 28.—The Hague correspondent of the Times pays a tribute to the high esteem in which the American delegates are held by the whole conference on account of the manner in which they conciliated conflicting views and smoothed away friction, and says: "To-day's Amer-ican declaration of Monroelsm sets at ican declaration of Monroeism sets at naught the basest Insinuations of those Continental politicians and journalists who represent the United States as elated over their victory over Spain and as eager to mix in European affairs."

pended.
One thousand Cubans, attired in Spanisa uniforms, came from Las Cruces to-day on a tug and barges and imitated the landing of the American navy. They paraded through the city, headed by bands of music. The Cuban inhabitants were crazy with delight, derisively crying, "Vive Espana," but the Spanish residents were disgusted.

Great demonstrations occurred in front of the palace and the Cuban and American Clubs.
